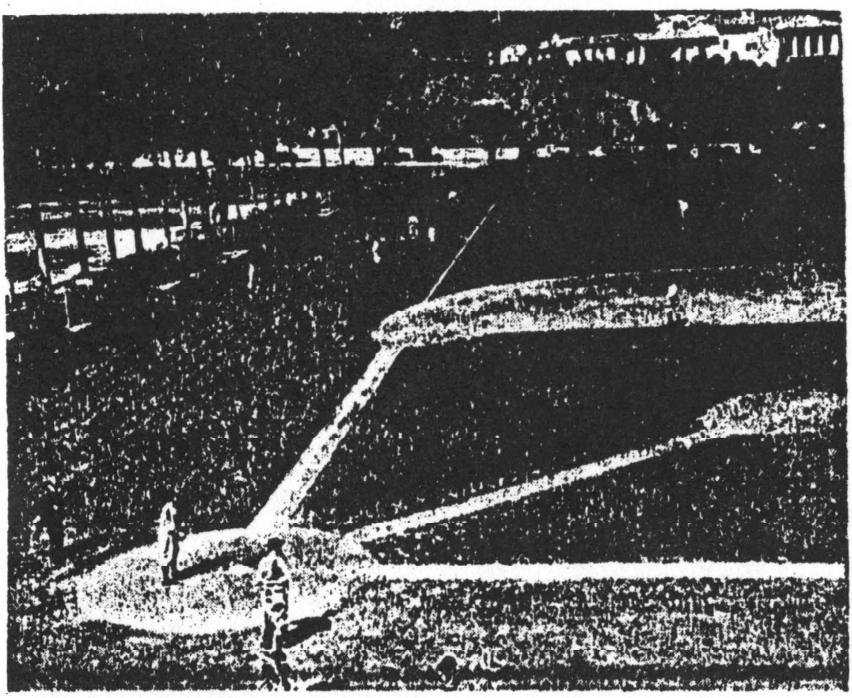
CUBS ENJOY IDEAL TRAINING CAMP



Cubs Training at Santa Catalina Island

WHEN the Chicago Cubs arrive at their training camp on March 10, it will mark the 17th consecutive year the team has conditioned at Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, located out in the Pacific ocean, 27 miles from Los Angeles Harbor.

This training spot was selected by the Cubs in 1921. That year, only the pitchers and catchers trained there, but in 1922, the entire squad journeyed to the Island for the first time and subsequent Cub teams have trained there every year since.

Here, amid historical surroundings, the Cubs enjoy one of the most ideal training sites and up-to-date plants in the country. The field, surrounded by palm trees, is considerably larger than that of any major league park. Both the infield and outfield, unequaled anywhere for beauty and smoothness, are kept in perfect condition throughout the year.

THE CHICAGO CUBS AT A GLANCE

HENRY CLAIBORNE BRYANT — Good relief pitching in 1935 and '36 has earned a starting berth for this promising young fast ball hurler. Good hitter. One of the fastest players on the club. Batted .417 last season.

JAMES O. CARLETON—Veteran moundsman with greatest assortment of curves in National League. Won 14 and lost 10 last season, getting 8 decisions over Boston Braves while losing 1. Switch batter. Hit three home runs last year from port side.

PHILIP J. CAVARRETTA—Veteran at twenty years. Starting third year as a Cub. Starred first year while succeeding Charlie Grimm at first base. A timely hitter. Hit home run in his first major league game. One year later to the day hit homer off Dizzy Dean, clinching 1935 Pennant for Cubs. Will be tried in the outfield this year.

IRVING CHERRY—Law student at the University of Illinois. Promising southpaw pitching prospect. Product of Chicago sandlots. Was all-around athlete at Carl Schurz high school in Chicago. Last year struck out 20, allowed 2 hits and 0 runs while pitching a game for Spencer Coals.

JAMES ANTHONY COLLINS—Secured from St. Louis Cardinals in Warneke deal. Rated one of the hardest hitting first basemen in the League. Has plenty of long-distance driving power. Will materially strengthen Cubs' infield.

CURTIS B. DAVIS—Star pitcher the past two seasons despite illness. Physical condition improved since removal of tonsils. Should regain top form this year.

FRANK J. DEMAREE—Pacific Coast batting champion 1934. Led Cub hitters last year with .350 mark. Only Cub player in every game. Led club with 96 runs driven in.

ALBERT PAUL EPPERLY—A fine pitching prospect. Not quite ready for majors. With Eau Claire, Northern League 1936.

CHARLES WESLEY FLOWERS—Recalled from Toledo. Looked pretty good last year. Has a good "sinker." Considered a heady pitcher.

LAWRENCE HERBERT FRENCH—Veteran southpaw. Led pitching staff last year with 18 wins against 9 losses. Product of California sand lots. Pitched 4 no-hit games before start of pro career. Colorful, heady and a hard worker.

LINUS REINHARD FREY—Secured from Brooklyn for English and Henshaw. Good utility infielder. Started in Montgomery, Ala., in 1932. Covers considerable ground. A dependable hitter. Hit .279 last year.

AUGUST JOHN GALAN — Sensational outfield rooky in 1935. Secured from San Francisco Seals. Topped centerfielders in fielding last year, despite bad year at the plate. A great natural ball player. Should return to '35 form this season.

ROBERT GARBARK—Purchased from Toledo as a catcher. Outfielder and catcher with same club in 1934-35-36. Selected as member of a Pittsburgh all-time, all-star, semi-pro team in 1932.

STANLEY C. HACK—Smiling third baseman. Left bank career for baseball. Now a Cub veteran. Said to have the best eyes in baseball. Noted for his ability to get on base. Hit .298 last year. Marksman of great ability.

CHARLES LEO HARTNETT—Starting his 16th year as Cub catcher. Has dropped only 3 foul flys in his career. Dean of receivers. Led league catchers in fielding, for third consecutive year. Has caught 100 games or more for 11 years for a total of 1,594. New Cub captain.

WILLIAM J. HERMAN—Greatest second baseman in the game. Led second sackers in fielding last year. Equaled his own record of 11 put outs in one game. Hit 57 doubles in 153 games. Placed sixth among league hitters. Participated in 110 double plays.

WALTER KIRBY HIGBE—Came up from Portsmouth. A great curve ball pitcher. Great major league prospect.

WILLIAM F. JURGES—Great defensive shortstop. Increased batting average 39 points last year. Possesses great throwing arm. Covers more ground than any other shortstop and "gets 'em." Forms one-half of baseball's greatest second-base combinations. Conducts a sporting goods store during off season.

WILLIAM CRUTCHER LEE, JR.—Topped National League pitchers in 1935. Has great curve ball.

Had best earned run average on club last season, while winning 18 games. Tallest man on the club, 6 feet 3 inches. Began playing baseball as a first baseman.

HENRY MAJESKI—A potential infield star. With Eau Claire last season. Hit .365. Got 7 hits in 7 times at bat against Duluth in 1936. Also hit safely 10 consecutive times. About ready for the majors.

JOSEPH ANTON MARTY — Secured from San Francisco Seals in trade for Lillard, Gill and Vitter. Sensational coast rooky. Led Pacific Coast league last year with .359 average. Hit home run against Los Angeles to win coast league championship in 1935. Hits for distance. Played baseball, football and basket ball at St. Mary's College.

HENRY C. MEYER—Another protege of Johnny Mostil's Eau Claire club. Local boy. Team mate of Phil Cavarretta on American Legion 1933 championship team. Drove in 129 runs last season.

JAMES KENNETH O'DAY—Starting third year as Hartnett understudy. Hit .307 last year, improving batting average 50 points. Dangerous hitter in a pinch. Long distance hitter. .423 slugging average last year.

LEROY EARL PARMALEE—Secured from St. Louis with Collins in Warneke deal. Won 11 straight games with Columbus in 1932. Troubled with sore arm past two years. Recovered sufficiently in 1936 to beat Hubbell 2-1 in 17 innings. Arm reported O. K. now.

CHARLES HENRY ROOT—Starting 12th year as Cub moundsman. Root and Hartnett form oldest battery in the major leagues. Staged great comeback in 1935 with 15 won and 8 lost. Has won 162 games and lost 125 for the Cubs, for major league average of .566.

CLYDE MITCHEL SHOUN—Graduated from semi-pros to majors, via Birmingham in 1935. Sensational southpaw prospect. Returned to Birmingham last year for more seasoning. Should stick in 1937.

RICHARD SIEBERT — Drafted from Indianapolis last year. Hit .330 in 123 games, getting 154 hits. Good defensive player.

GEORGE TUCKER STAINBACK, JR.—Possesses great natural ability. Starting fourth year with Cubs. Should see more action this season.

HAROLD SUEME—Gave up priesthood to play baseball. Very promising catcher. Fast. A good hitter. With Birmingham on option last year.
